CITY CENTER FOR RAILWAY PASSENGER BUSINESS

Hollywood, Pasadena, Eagle Rock and Other Points To Use New Depot

CONSTRUCTION started today on Glendale's spacious modern railroad station at the head of Cerritos avenue, is the announcement made this morning by T. H. Williams, assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific system.

The station itself, exclusive of the ground it will occupy, is to cost upwards $70,000 and will be completed and in operation by January 1, 1924, in the opinion of Mr. Williams, who states that plans have been approved by the State Railroad commission and work authorized to begin.

The new station will be of the old Spanish Renaissance type, 164x27 feet, equipped with all modern facilities for handling the company's ever-increasing volume of passenger and freight business.

Fireproof construction will be employed throughout, while the architectural scheme will be carried even to the station signs and platform lamps, which will be ornately decorated in true Spanish style. Even the furniture will be specially designed to conform to the general plan.

Among the many features will be an attractively decorated waiting room, a comfortable women's room, fitted with tile floor, and there will be a freight and storage room 59x22 feet, with adequate sidings and spur tracks.

Makes Glendale Center "Not only Glendale but Hollywood, Pasadena, Eagle Rock and other surrounding points will be served by this station," says C. L. Thedaker, local Southern Pacific agent. "It was in recognition of the strategic location of this city, and of its rapid growth, that the company decided to erect here such a costly and beautiful station."

FREAK STORM IN FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—A freak storm visited San Francisco today, the first of its kind in history. Lightning flashes pierced the air and thunder rumbled through the outlying hills. Brisk showers accompanied the storm.

Smooth Forger Uses Names of Picture Stars

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—City and county authorities today searched for a brazen "paper hanger" swindler, who is said to have tricked local merchants out of $15,000 in three months through forged checks.

Using the names of Rupert Hughes, famous author, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and dozens of other nationally known personages, the dapper young forger is said to have defrauded some of Los Angeles' largest establishments.

While the forger took cover with the proceeds from cashed checks bearing the names of well known persons, his purchases would be sent to the unsuspecting persons in whose names the checks were forged.

BAN CROWDS AS MINER IS SLAIN

Tense Feeling Follows Riots; Four Men Shot Down in Bitter Fighting

FROSTBURG, Md., Aug. 27.—Since the rioting here throughout last night in which four men were shot because of intense feeling over the slaying of a union miner, George Porter of Zihlman, conditions are far from reassuring today. So desperate did the situation appear this morning that Mayor Rice and Sheriff Macfarlane, of Allegany county, issued a proclamation that no congregating of crowds in the streets would be permitted.

A grim determination was evident on the part of the governor as he launched his opening plea for a settlement. In plain, outspoken words he called to the attention of the eight men representing the two factions the dangers of a strike at this time. He pointed to a huge loss of profits to the operators, a huge loss of wages to the miners—but particularly he stressed the inconvenience and even actual danger that a shut-down of the hard coal industry would work upon the public.

A shortage of anthracite means loss of health and millions of American families, loss of comfort, of working power and of time," he said. "A strike or suspension such as now threatens is a public calamity, and as such, every reasonable public means must be used to prevent it."

Hope was expressed by Pinchot that a settlement would not be impossible. "The eleventh hour is upon us—and the crisis has now been reached," he told the delegates. "We must do in this eleventh hour what should have been done before."

Wizard's Statement Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard of the order, who attended the meeting, issued a statement in which he declared "Klansman Abbott was killed because he exercised his constitutionally guaranteed right to peaceable assembly, free speech and free movement on the highways of our country."

He also said that "the action of the mob at Carnegie senses of anarchy."

Sixteen men who were arrested early yesterday in connection with the rioting were released. No charges were placed against them. Three men are being held in the county jail, who are said to have had revolvers and a handful of bricks during the fighting. The ten reported wounded are recovering, according to authorities today. It is estimated that fully 20,000 Klansmen attended the initiation Saturday night.

Klan News Agent Held as Killer INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 27.—Chester Chadwell, 23, was bound over to the grand jury today after waiving preliminary hearing in city court on a charge of murder in connection with the death of William Sparks, November 15, 1922. Sparks and Chadwell, according to a story told by Sparks before he died, became embittered because Chadwell acted as salesman for the Fiery Cross, official Ku Klux Klan publication.

Comiskey's Daughter Is Held Up by Bandits CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Mrs. Grace Comiskey, daughter-in-law of Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox baseball team, today was in a state bordering on nervous collapse, following her experience late Sunday night when she and Edward ("Big Ed") Walsh, former big league pitcher, were held up in the vicinity of the Comiskey home in South Michigan avenue and robbed of jewelry valued at $10,000.

Public Will Not Tolerate Coal Strike, Governor Tells Around Table While Crisis Nears

By GEO. E. DURNO For International News Service

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 27.—The public will not tolerate a strike in the anthracite fields on September 1, Governor Pinchot today warned the warring operators and miners, assembled in conference at the call of the Pennsylvania executive. "The public interest demands that this controversy shall be settled and that a suspension of mining shall be avoided," Pinchot charged as the meeting opened. "The thing is possible—and it must be done."

Tells of Losses A grim determination was evident on the part of the governor as he launched his opening plea for a settlement. In plain, outspoken words he called to the attention of the eight men representing the two factions the dangers of a strike at this time. He pointed to a huge loss of profits to the operators, a huge loss of wages to the miners—but particularly he stressed the inconvenience and even actual danger that a shut-down of the hard coal industry would work upon the public.

Two Held as Police Seize Liquor Stocks LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—Theodore Dusterhoft, of Los Angeles, and Fred Epp, of San Bernardino, were held in the county jail today following their arrest in Alhambra in an automobile containing 675 pints of whiskey.

The arrest of the two men resulted in a raid by deputy sheriffs on a garage at Liberty street and Sunset boulevard, in which 43 gallons of synthetic gin and 20 gallons of wine were seized. Dusterhoft and Epp, who made signed confessions, stated they were bringing the liquor.

Burbank Police Chief Denies Officer's Charge Charges that Fred Olechvary was dismissed from the Burbank police department because of his "operation with prohibition agents in running down bootleggers were denied today by Chief of Police Long of that city, who states that the man was dismissed for incompetency. "You can't work for Burbank and the government at the same time," Olechvary charges. Chief Long told him in the presence of fellow officers.

ARMY AVIATORS MAKE FAST TIME IN TEST SAN DIEGO, Aug. 27.—At 12:01 this afternoon Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter completed their twentieth lap, having flown 1000 kilometers at a rate of about 90 1/2 miles per hour. Several re-fueling contacts had been made. The famous pilots are flying much faster than on their initial attempt last June when they averaged 84 1/2 miles per hour for 3000 kilometers.

LASSEN STAGES GREATEST ERUPTION IN YEAR REDDING, Aug. 27.—The greatest eruption of the year was the description by observers today of the activity of Mount Lassen, America's only "live mountain." The volcano shot forth black columns of smoke that ascended for several thousand feet, starting at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The fiery pit belched a considerable amount of ashes.

U. S. Flyers Seek New Records

DISTANCE AND ENDURANCE RACE ON

Captain Lowell Smith Pilots Powerful Liberty Around San Diego Course

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 27.—In a second attempt to smash the world's endurance and distance flying records, Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John B. Richter of the army air service took the air from Rockwell field at 5:04:17 this morning. They will fly around a fifty kilometer triangular course.

The flight will mark the second mid-air refueling test series being conducted by the army. In the world's first refueling flight two months ago the same pair of pilots flew for 23 hours before being forced down by a dense fog. During this flight they received gasoline, oil, water and food from a "mother" plane driven by Lieutenant Hines and Seifert, the quartette making a dozen successful contacts.

Ideal Weather Prevails The moon is full, the sky cloudless, and for several days there has been little or no fog. These ideal conditions have imbued the army air service with confidence of boosting the 36 hours' endurance and the 4,000 kilometer distance records of Lieutenants Macready and Kelly.

Should their 400 horsepower Liberty motor hold out, and the hazardous refueling contacts be successfully performed, Smith and Richter will continue to wing their way around the aerial speedway, creating new world's distance marks at every 500 kilometers beyond the present limit of 4,000 kilometers until forced down by physical exhaustion.

Refuel in Midair The flyers rounded their course for the fifteenth time at 10:17:45, flying at an average speed of about 92 miles an hour for the 750 kilometers covered. Their speed has gradually increased from 90 miles on the first lap.

The first re-fueling contact was effected at 10 o'clock, when 70 gallons of gasoline was successfully conveyed down the 40-foot hose.

'Playing Indian' Ends In Deaths at Stake BELMAR, N. J., Aug. 27.—Police today held Dick Forman, 17, and Caleb Hubbard, 18, following the deaths of William Hubbard, 16, a brother of Caleb, and Charles Spindler, 11, burned at the stake while "playing Indian," yesterday. No formal charge has been made yet against the two youths.

The boys chose a spot in a woods in West Belmar to tie their "captives" to the stake. They piled excelsior about the feet of the "Indians," who jested during the process, then applied a match to the "fagots." The ground was saturated with coal oil and soon the trees to which the boys had been tied were burning and their clothes were afire.

"Frantic efforts by the 'scouts' to free the two boys and extinguish the fire proved unavailing."

Probe Freak Crash in Wreck of Steamers PORTLAND, Aug. 27.—United States steamboat inspectors are investigating today the freakiest accident in the harbor here in years when the steel freighter Vinita, in attempting to land, yesterday smashed into the river boat Hercules and caused damage estimated at $100,000 and the probable closing of the old Burnside bridge permanently to trans- river vehicle traffic.

Mix-up in the signals between the bridge and engine room of the Vinita is believed to have caused the freighter to speed ahead just before landing near the bridge. The bow of the Vinita drove through the paddle box of the Hercules, showing it against a marine workshop.

'Crime Crushers' Drive Crooks to Suburbs, Claim

WARNING that the Los Angeles police department's "crime crushers" war against crime has a tendency to send criminals into the suburbs was issued this morning by Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of the Glendale police department.

"When criminals are driven out of one place they will operate in another!" he exclaimed. "The reason there are so many criminals in Southern California is that they follow tourists here, all of whom have money. The crooks find that this is a more profitable place to work than in the East."

"Glendale has been very fortunate in being able to keep away from this crime wave. In fact, the crimes committed here are not more than one-fourth in proportion to population per thousand of any nearby community."

FRUIT ROTS ON TREES IN NORTHWEST

Great Crop Loss in Bumper Year Is Observed by C. D. Thom on Trip

BUMPER crops in the Pacific Northwest have flooded the market with an over-supply of all kinds of fruit and berries, and thousands of tons of the finest orchard products are going to rot for want of a market, according to Cameron De Hart Thom, president of the Glendale Realty Company, 131 1/2 South Brand boulevard, on his return here today from a six weeks' trip on which he was accompanied by Mrs. Virginia, and their son, Livingston.

"I bought apples, pears, peaches, berries everywhere along the road, and never paid over two cents a pound for them, and many farmers are giving their products away rather than see them rot," said Mr. Thom.

Police on Duty Police and civic guards were on duty throughout the country. Registered voters numbered 1,800,000.

Detectors were stationed at the 4,500 polling places to prevent fraud.

Leaders of the republicans admitted that they could not gain control of the Dail, but said they would keep up the fight. It was predicted that the republicans and independents would get about 19 seats between them.

Owing to the system of proportional representation, it was conceded that Eamonn de Valera, chief leader of the republicans, who is now in prison, would be elected to the Dail in County Clare but it is doubtful if he will be allowed to take his seat.

TWO GLENDALES! TWO ROMANCES!

F. Emerson Padelford Weds Miss Grace L. Brewster in Coincidental Courtship

Claiming sons who are Glendale Californians and daughters-in-law who are Glendale Arizonans, involved in romances beginning in Glendale, Arizona, and ending in Glendale, California, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Padelford of 1359 Highland avenue, are attracting wide attention as residents of "Glendale, The Fastest Growing City in America."

The first Glendale romance in the Padelford family culminated over a year ago when Miss Hilda Madsen of Glendale, Arizona, became the bride of J. Carlton Padelford of Glendale, California, and on last Saturday, August 25, 1923, Miss Grace L. Brewster of Glendale, Arizona, became the bride of F. Emerson Padelford.

Story of Pioneer West Leading up to both marriages were most interesting stories, for it was when the Padelford brothers went to Arizona to take up a homestead near Glendale that they became acquainted with Miss Madsen and Miss Brewster, both engaged in the teaching profession.

The marriage of Miss Brewster and F. Emerson Padelford took place Saturday in the parsonage of the Huntington Park Methodist church.

Optimist Says Companies May Absorb Gas Tax SACRAMENTO, Aug. 27.—The state gas tax of 2 cents per gallon, which becomes effective September 30, will probably not have the effect of increasing the price of gasoline to the consumer to that extent, according to M. D. Lack, secretary of the State Board of Equalization.

Lack expressed the opinion that many of the distributing companies will absorb at least part of the tax. He said that he does not look for an increase of more than 1 cent per gallon, if any.

Social Events

Delphian Plans

On the last Thursday in September the Glendale chapter of the Alpha Delphians will meet with Mrs. Charles Marshall, 527 South Central avenue, for a social afternoon and to perfect the plan and work out the detail of this year's study.

The Delphians is essentially a study club, national in its scope, having chapters in almost every state. It provides for a six years' course of study which, if followed, is a liberal education, either to supplement a college course or to take the place of work in advanced schools. The syllabus of the year's course is issued from the headquarters in Chicago.

The Glendale chapter numbers between forty and fifty members and is divided into two groups, the Lotus and the Ivy, for study purposes.

The present officers are Mrs. P. O. Lucas, president; Mrs. Barton Mambert, first vice-president; Mrs. E. B. Alsberg, second vice-president; Miss Martha Cox, secretary; Mrs. E. L. Mason, leader of Lotus group; Mrs. B. W. Bolton, leader of the Ivy group.

The second Thursday of the month the groups hold meetings at the homes of the members, and on the fourth Thursday there is a general chapter meeting in the auditorium of the Glendale public library.

The year's program, the second year for the Glendale chapter, will take up the study of the drama, its development from the beginning to the modern drama, and no doubt will be one of the most interesting of any in the six years' course.

That's All

Brevity Among Other Traits
President Coolidge Has It!
Spain In Serious Trouble
Two Postscript Thoughts
By Gil A. Cowan

BREVITY of speech, is it abrupt? That is a nice question to argue. Repartee, is it uncouth? Another argument. Wit, is it folly? It depends on debate.

"Keep your mouth shut," is an expressive phrase, also abrupt. People do not like to hear it. But it is good advice oftentimes.

"How about yourself?" is an answer to criticism which might be considered repartee, yet most everyone considers it insulting as well as personal.

"You're the cat's meow," often is a josh line used that costs a person position or prestige, depending, of course, who is made the "butt" of the joke.

Newspaper people are prone to abrupt speech. They have to write it short and snappy. Also, they are inclined to be cynical in their repartee. All of which is unfortunate, but other professions and trades suffer from similar affliction.

A mechanic and his greasy clothes give you a thrill as he climbs into a clean car to smear around the gears and clutch.

The doctor and lawyer make a layman wary with their cloak of ethics.

So, too, with the policeman and his authority, or the teacher with his superiority of education, or the preacher holding iron-clad sectarian views.

All of us are to be criticised. At the same time we should be cautious with our criticism.

For what would result if our newspaper men were wasting words with incompetents and not mixing a grain of salt in the daily bread of the masses?

Or the mechanics stopped to clothe themselves in spotless linen dusters before they went to work on each automobile?

Or lawyers and doctors would cheerfully discuss personal affairs and tell clients they were "undeserving of justice or sick only in their minds?"

And policemen disregarded laws to be enforced while schools were conducted without ideals and congregations of church-goers allowed to go to seed for lack of a tenacious shepherd?

The writer admits that he gained his thought on "brevity of speech" from the outstanding trait of President Coolidge. Regarding the executive, the Grand Rapids, Mich., Herald says on the subject:

The outstanding social trait of President Coolidge seems to be his taciturnity. It is a faculty more often notable in generals than in statesmen. Lycurgus, lawmaker for the Spartans, was so famous for terse speech that to this day he is remembered in the adjective "laconic." Caesar's "I came, I saw, I conquered," lives as another classic example of compression. Later, Napoleon's addresses to his army were usually of one stirring paragraph. And when Pershing landed in France he summed it all up by saying, "Lafayette, we are here." Taciturnity has good references.

Calvin Coolidge's letters that find their way into print are invariably brief. His utterances are limited in length. On the other hand, they are not cryptic like the Delphic oracles, but, in terseness and feeling of completeness, are comparable to the Gettysburg address, which is another model of beautiful compression. In fact, the words that humans best remember are usually few in number and rich in meaning. Coolidge's taciturnity is of that brand. Fewer words give the impression of sincerity, have the virtue of force and the promise of reserve power. Bacon's essays are in point. All these virtues are traits which would be good for a president to have. If, in addition, brevity of speech will relieve any of the ardors of the chief executive's work, then Coolidge is indeed fortunate to have cultivated it. The President's taciturnity is, to him, both a popular and a practical asset.

Every morning the International News Service leased wire, for the last few days, has brought in an account of new casualties in Morocco, where the Spanish armies are endeavoring to subdue the Riff tribesmen. The Pasadena Star-News holds that:

Spain is in serious trouble. It arises in Morocco. It comes from the repressive colonial policy of the Madrid government. Spain is having trouble with its African colonies for the same reason that it had trouble with Cuba and the Philippines, when they were Spanish colonies. The statesmen of Spain do not seem to profit by the lessons of experience. The policies of cruelty and repression toward colonial subject peoples are setting colonies against Spain, as in olden days.

The war in Morocco has assumed serious proportions. Spain must raise a large army, through heavy conscriptions. This means additional burdens of taxation for the Spanish people, with heavy loss of life in the fighting with the Moorish fanatics.

The old policies of tyranny and oppression no longer will be tolerated by any people, however backward they may be. If the statesmen of Spain would learn this, they would be saved much trouble and the threat of political revolution in Spain might be turned aside. But, as conditions are, Spain is threatened with civil war as well as being menaced in Morocco.

George Washington never went to Europe to find out how to run America, says the Toledo Blade. And Glendale doesn't need to go to Los Angeles to find out

Talks on Signs of Times
At the service last night Elder A. G. Daniels spoke on "The Significance of Present World Conditions." He expressed himself as believing that the unrest in Europe is ominous of the coming Armageddon, the "battle of the great day of God Almighty," in which the "kings of the earth and the whole world" will be engaged, which will be the last great conflict. That conflict will end, according to the speaker, in the coming of the Prince of Peace, the end of the world and the ushering in of eternity. He believes that no one can forecast the future sufficiently accurate to know when it will come, but, according to Bible prophecies, it is coming. He urged his hearers to prepare for that coming day.

—the Pacific-Southwest

THE "Pacific-Southwest" is an empire. Within its economic boundaries are practically every mineral and power resource, broad livestock ranges and the most diversified agricultural production to be found anywhere. It is more nearly sufficient unto itself than any other district in the world.

The Pacific-Southwest inter-community banking system, with branches in thirty-six California cities from Fresno south, is serving this territory. It is striving to assist the co-ordination of industries and resources, natural and financial, to bring about a more rapid and better development of each component part of the great area.

While providing its communities with every advantage of large metropolitan banking service, each branch has retained its local stockholders and management, thus keeping an intimate, sympathetic understanding of the needs of the locality it serves.

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

CHURCHES of Glendale held solemn, impressive services yesterday, attended by large crowds. Pastors preached on varied topics and special music was provided by soloists and choirs. Herewith are presented brief excerpts from sermons and, too, other church news:

MAN DETERMINES LIFE CHARACTER

Cultivation of High Ideals Needed for Spiritual Growth, Is Claim

Man determines the character of his life by the object upon which he sets his supreme love, according to Rev. Louis Tinning, who occupied the pulpit yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church.

"Man is the most wonderful of all the beings God has created," he said. "He has been given power over nature and has used this power in a most wonderful manner. Man possesses reason which lifts him far above any other created animal. But man's chief claim to superiority lies in the possession of a spirit nature. He possesses possibilities of development far beyond the power of man to conceive."

Shapes Own Life
"Man can determine the character of his own life. He can make it a wilderness or a garden of the Lord. He can be a materialist, seeing only matter and nothing spiritual. He can be an atheist as if there were no God. He can be an agnostic and say 'I do not know if there be a God,' or, he can be a Christian whose one object is to love Christ. What he is to be he must decide. He may kindle a fire in his own soul that will burn the stars and that will perish when his earthly life ends."

"The object of his supreme love is the master power. Man's choicest interests are often sacrificed on the altar of money. Or he may have pleasure, it masters him. Multitude are swayed by this love. They have no care for the truer delights of the soul. They find their highest gratification in the things of sense and not in the things of the spirit. If he loves Christ supremely then Christ is the Master of his life. For Him he would sacrifice all things, yes, even life itself."

"If Christ is the object of his supreme love, then he has chosen life's highest ideal. The choice of a high ideal is the first step in the way of success. The young man starting in business or art should put the highest principles before him. He must study the masters in his line. To choose less than Jesus Christ is to court failure at the very outset. Who loves Christ supremely is the noblest man in God's esteem."

High Ideals Urged
"Who chooses Christ as his life ideal should press toward the attainment of his ideal. Men are urged to set before them ideals which they can never hope to attain. It is better to aim high and fail than to aim low and succeed. Not failure but low aim is crime."

"The more men seek to attain their ideal the more nearly do they approach it. To follow Christ is to become more and more like Him until at last we stand in His presence perfect. To become like Christ He must be believed, His spirit must be imbedded, His footsteps followed and His teachings lived. Where Christ is the ideal, He controls, whether it be in business, in society, in the home, or the individual life. Life without Him is a failure. Life in Christ is lived on the highest plane possible for men to place before them."

Founder of First M. E. Church Preaches Here

Rev. C. R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue, founder of the First Methodist church of Glendale, occupied its pulpit last night and had as his sermon topic, "Mary's Choice."

Many of his personal friends were present and noticeably a representation from the J. O. C. Sunday school class, of which he was once the teacher.

"The three most remarkable spots on the earth are Bethlehem, Calvary and the Sea of Galilee," said Dr. Henry I. Rasmus yesterday morning at the First Methodist church.

"Jesus' association of these has made them immortal," he continued. "In the great cities that then stood on the shores of Galilee and its vicinity Jesus did most of His mighty works. We lose sight of the fact that the sea of Galilee was once the center of a population that staggers all realization."

LEARNED PREACHES

The Central Christian church had as its preacher yesterday at both services Rev. Willard Learned. Two solos were features of the day's music. Mrs. C. C. Stoler of 1249 Justin street sang "The Ninety and Nine," by Champion. In the morning, Harry A. Marple of 1439 Glenwood road sang a bass solo in the evening.

PREACHES TWICE

Rev. J. C. Livingston, who has just returned from his vacation, occupied the pulpit yesterday at both services of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church. His morning subject was "Knowing Jesus," while his evening topic was "The Church of the Open Door."

Experiences of Paul Form Lesson's Theme

The Presbyterian Brotherhood Bible class still retains a high pitch of interest and there was the usual attendance yesterday morning at the council rooms of the City Hall, President W. L. Horn being in charge. Keith L. Brooks, the class teacher, spoke on Paul's experiences at Corinth and Ephesus.

"Corinth," he said, "claims distinction as the residence of the apostle during his most critical contest for the faith, the place where he wrote his first apostolic letters and the place to which he addressed two epistles containing the fullest directions on Christian faith and practice."

"We felt sorry for Paul when he left Athens, mocked by the cultured philosophers. At Athens he made little headway but he learned a great lesson in the art of preaching, and preached better at Corinth. In Athens he did not preach an evangelistic sermon. He got up an argument from a philosophical standpoint to answer the highbrows."

"As he walked the forty miles to Corinth, he must have said to himself, 'I have done with that kind of preaching,' for when he later wrote the Corinthians," he said, "When I came to you, I came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God, for I determined that I would know nothing among you save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified."

"His visit to Athens was not in vain. His scientific sermon was laughed at, but his sermon on Christ, and Him crucified, brought great results."

Service Above Self, Urged by Rev. Kemp

"Jesus had to combat the ordinary sins of life!" exclaimed Rev. Philip K. Kemp yesterday morning in his sermon at St. Mark's Episcopal church. "Jesus was always running against people who thought of him only as a healer or a fount of new opinions for the glory that was in it."

"Here comes a man who asks him to speak to his brother and make him divide the inheritance with him as though he had some wonderful powers that could be brought to bear upon the selfish wills of men. In reply he warned him against the sin of avarice, for he came not to work miracles to achieve men's private ends, but to advance the great work of God. There was this constant downward push working in men's hearts to drag them down to the level far below the heights of Jesus."

"Life has its upward and downward pressures; the aspiration to be Christlike is always offset by the temptation to be Judaslike and think of material gain. It is the contest of your higher self against the universe which would mould you in a common form. Pascal said: 'I am superior to the universe.' It may crush us, but it cannot destroy us. We start with our feet on the earth, but we are not content to stay there, for our citizenship is in heaven; for the spiritual franchise for the kingdom of God and strive for the ideals of Christ."

"The great contest in life is, then, between helping the world or consuming the world and yourself. Either use your life to help others or make them help you. Self against service. Jesus says there is only one banner under which you can serve and be His disciple. 'He that loseth his life for My sake shall save it.' There is no other way to the Kingdom of God."

Weak Faith Is Theme At Lutheran Church

"Weak Faith" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Concordia Lutheran church. "Jesus had been busily engaged all day preaching and healing the sick," commented Rev. Henry O. Kringel. "There was such a vast throng and so much to attend to, He had not found time to eat. When night came, the people still remained and all that Jesus could do to obtain rest was to withdraw from them. So He told His disciples to have a boat ready that He might cross the lake. On entering, Jesus made for the stern of the boat, where He laid down His weary head on an improvised pillow and, fatigued as He was, He was soon fast asleep."

"A storm arose and His disciples were in danger. In their fright they cried, 'Lord, save us or we perish.' And what is Jesus' answer? 'Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith?'"

"So the great fault of the disciples in this storm was that they were of little faith—that their faith was weak."

"Weak faith differs from unbelief. Weakness of faith is a dangerous thing. Let us fight the good fight of faith, that is, to accept Christ as our savior and lay hold on eternal life."

COOKMAN SPEAKS

Prof. Alfred Cookman spoke last night at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church on "Birds of the Pacific Coast."

FRESNO PASTOR

The First Baptist church yesterday had as its preacher Rev. R. D. Licklider of Fresno.

DUTY OF CHURCH TOLD IN SERMON

Should Extend God's Kingdom Throughout World, Says Visiting Pastor

Rev. S. H. Werlein, presiding elder of the Los Angeles District of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, occupied the pulpit yesterday at the Broadway Methodist church. The sermon text was "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

"If any people on the earth can use the language of the text surely it is the church of the Living God," he said. "It should be justified in so doing by putting forth all its vigor and energy to extend the kingdom of God among men."

"Many speak of the church in great reverence, which is very proper, but, first of all, we should listen to what God says—even in preference to what the church says. However, she can, and it is her duty, to bring a lost brother to Christ."

"The church extends many helpful and pleasant features: Social benefits, lasting friendships and even business opportunities. But I have a feeling of contempt and protest for those who will use healing and the church to draw people to them for selfish gain."

Preaching Facts
"When we preach the gospel of Jesus Christ, we do not preach theory, but something that is a tangible fact, and our efforts should be prompted not by what we think we can get out of it but by the good we can give out to others."

"The church speaks to the indifferent and the ungodly. It speaks to the dying thief on the cross. It speaks to the aged and to the young, to the sorrowing, to the infirm—in fact, it says 'come' to every man."

"Through the church, love eventually will take the place of hatred and racial prejudice will give way for kindness. For our own sakes, for the sake of humanity and for the sake of the Kingdom of God, let the church, as never before, put forth her best efforts to rescue a dying world whose very existence is in the balance. The church is the only power on earth that can assure peace among men. Wreck and ruin await us and the human family may be obliterated from the face of the earth unless the nations come to the Son of God."

Shoe Store to Offer Bargains in Footwear

According to Manager Joe Smith of the Broadway Shoe store, 312 East Broadway, one of the biggest sales that this store has ever inaugurated will begin tomorrow morning when their entire stock of women's shoes, pumps and oxfords will be placed on sale.

"These shoes, asserted Mr. Smith, are being offered for sale at ridiculously low prices and we are not expecting to make any profits. Some months ago we decided on this sale because of the fact that beginning this fall we are going to conduct a children's shoe store exclusively," he said.

Special Music Marks Presbyterian Service

Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts of 114 West Park avenue last night sang the Gospel solo at the Presbyterian church.

Special numbers were sung at both the morning and evening services by the church quartet. Besides Mrs. Retts, who has charge of the church music, other members of this quartet are: Miss Elizabeth Mottern of 211 North Adams street, J. Malcolm Huddy of Pasadena, and Norman W. Kelch of Los Angeles.

Jackson Gives Away Coin and Flivver Sunday

POSTMASTER D. RIPLEY JACKSON of Glendale appeared in a generous role yesterday when he gave away a Ford automobile and money prizes. The Ford car was presented to a resident of Los Angeles, Mrs. C. Magnus, and $5 went to R. Coulton of 313 E. 44th Colorado street, Glendale. Another Glendale man should also have received a $5 prize, but he failed to show up and lost the five spot.

Captain Jackson exercised his philanthropic duties at Country Club Highlands yesterday, when the new subdivision on Pico boulevard, Los Angeles, was the scene of a drawing that was staged for the benefit of the hundreds of visitors to the tract, which is drawing the attention of a large number of keen realty dealers and investors in this region.

ART LOVERS SEE LAGUNA PAGEANT

Members Spend Week-end At Beach on Picnic and Inspect Paintings

The Glendale Art association was represented by twenty-five of its members at the Laguna Beach picnic Saturday and Sunday, August 24 and 26, when they were guests of the Laguna Art club at a delightful outing which was coincident with the occasion of the annual Greek pageant, reports Mrs. James F. Armstrong, secretary of the association.

Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president of the Glendale Art association, who is summering at Laguna, was hostess to the large group of picnickers, pouring coffee at Saturday's luncheon.

Saturday afternoon they went to the Laguna art gallery, where Miss Anna A. Hill welcomed them. Tea was served later in the afternoon, after enjoyment of the unusually fine exhibit there. It is announced by Mrs. Armstrong that at the next public meeting of the Glendale Art association, 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, September 2, at the Public Library, Prof. K. L. Lillani, of Bombay, India, who is widely traveled and highly cultured, will talk on "Philosophy of Art."

It is understood that Prof. Lillani is shortly to open a studio of art instruction in Glendale.

Church Members Hold Quarterly Conference

The Broadway Methodist church yesterday held its fourth quarterly conference. This was conducted by Rev. S. H. Werlein, presiding elder of the Los Angeles district of the Methodist church, South.

Announcement was made that possession of the Presbyterian church on the northeast corner of Broadway and Cedar street will be obtained within a few weeks. Plans were made to hold the first services here in their own home October 7.

Rev. Werlein congratulated the congregation upon the progress made since its organization last December. He stated that the report of Rev. L. J. Millikan was very encouraging. He also commented favorably upon the report of J. N. McGillis, superintendent of the Sunday school.

Officers elected for the next conference year are as follows: Trustees—T. J. Fambrough, John W. Knight, Atty. Bert P. Woodard, Ethelbert Rumble, J. M. Green, Newton W. McBryde, W. T. Watts, J. T. Asbury and J. N. McGillis. Stewards—N. J. Haynes, J. M. Green, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Knight, G. W. Grose, Mrs. Sarah J. Fambrough, J. O. Bigham and J. N. McGillis.

If you grapple long enough with heavy odds they are likely to turn in your favor.

Business Building Sale Starts Tuesday

A $20,000 "business building" sale starts promptly at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, at the R. M. McGee Dry Goods store, 614 East Broadway, announces R. M. McGee, proprietor.

"This will be a stupendous sale, involving everything in my establishment," says Mr. McGee. "There will be no reservations, and no sales to dealers. The sale is for the general public of Glendale and surrounding communities, with everything at rock-bottom prices.

The sale was planned weeks ago and will be far and away the biggest unloading of high-grade merchandise at wholesale prices that we have ever attempted.

DAVID BLACKS IN LONG MOTOR TRIP

Describe Beauties Between Glendale and Canada as They Saw Them

Mr. and Mrs. David Black and daughter, Miss Esther Black, and granddaughter, Frances Van Etten, of Pasadena, arrived in Glendale Friday night after a wonderful motor trip up the Pacific coast as far north as Vancouver, B. C. having covered nearly 4200 miles since leaving Glendale July 2.

They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Van Etten and family of Pasadena to the northern part of the state, and together they visited some of the beautiful scenic spots in California.

The long trip was made without accident, with weather conditions all that could be desired. The party was equipped for camping, and only once on the trip did rain compel them to seek refuge in a hotel for the night, and that was at Tacoma.

Well Fitted Camps
They found the auto camps very comfortable and convenient. In the north especially so, fitted up with showers and cooking stoves. Some places had laundry tubs and washboards. Other camps had electric stoves.

Their itinerary took them through the redwoods near Eureka and the wonderful manner along the northern rivers. Outstanding features of their trip were a visit to Crater lake and a visit to Mt. Rainier another.

They thought Oregon fine, but did not think that Washington looked so prosperous.

From Portland an eighty-mile trip up the wonderful scenery along the Columbia river to Mt. Hood was a trip never to be forgotten.

At Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, they were the guests of friends for several days and during their visit they visited the celebrated Bucht gardens, famous as the Bush gardens of Pasadena, with the added attraction of an inlet from the bay on a most picturesque manner.

They were at Vancouver the day of President Harding's visit, and report the decorations in his honor were most beautiful and elaborate.

On the return trip they visited the navy yard at Mare Island, at Vallejo. In San Francisco, among the many places of interest they visited was the Presidio, where they were the luncheon guests of an officer whom Mr. Black had met during the World war at Camp Kearney.

A visit to the Presbyterian Chinese girls' home was another interesting incident of their San Francisco stay.

Santa Cruz mountain and the Big Basin were also of interest. Reaching Astoria about two weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Black and party attended the meeting of the Presbyterian Synod and met a number of Glendale friends. Mr. Black reports that the Presbyterian synod will meet in Glendale next year.

A stop was made at Stanford university, where they heard an organ recital on the wonderful organ there. Altogether it was a wonderful trip. One of the things which impressed Mr. and Mrs. Black was the beautiful parks that even the small towns in the north seemed to have, and also that many towns much smaller than Glendale had Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. buildings.

RALLY IN NINTH BEATS SOAP MEN

Heidler's Steal Home, Acosta's Triple, Win Game for Glendale Team

Before a large crowd yesterday at the home field at Park avenue and San Fernando road, the Glendale team pulled the unexpected and beat the strong White King Soap team of Los Angeles 3 to 2 in one of the most thrilling contests seen this year. The big thrill and the most excitement came in the last of the ninth inning when Glendale pulled one of the winning innings wins seen for a long time.

REBEKAHS STAGE WEEK-END PICNIC

Lodge Members and Families Hold 2-Day Outing
At Topanga Canyon

Howard Stanley, Carl W. Schwitters and Russell Strother were Glendaleans who distinguished themselves Saturday at the Rebekah lodge beach outing at Topanga canyon beach by capturing and landing the pirate ship, rescuing a flapper overboard, and finding Captain Kidd's treasure chest.

To Mr. Stanley goes the honor of dragging from the briny deep a miniature pirate ship, which he grasped in his teeth. It was Carl W. Schwitters, resident of 525 North Adams street, who bravely plunged into the dashing waves to rescue a tiny, bobbed haired, celluloid miss in danger of floating out to sea. Russell Strother was the fortunate one uncovering the treasure chest, eight inches by a foot and a half, and containing a tiny bottle of milk.

Week-End Camp
There were 150 lodge members, their families and friends included in the party, that camped on the beach over the week-end. All attending were unanimous in their praise of the work and planning done by Mrs. Evelyn Hall, noble grand, and Mrs. Marjorie Pease, vice grand, who arranged the entire affair.

Daniel A. Hall, noble grand of the Odd Fellows, had charge of the program of sports taking place Saturday afternoon. Among the races and winners were the fat women's race, won by Mrs. Coghlin. She received her prize in the form of a small bag of candy.

Gets Stiff Pace
Miss Vinona Keiser led the following-leader event, and her versatility resulted in a dwindling of followers.

Late in the evening the company gathered about a huge bonfire for songs, led by Mrs. Loretta Schwitters and George McBryde, the former playing the ukelele and the latter a harmonica. A marshmallow and wieners roast was the final event.

Sunday's program began with a 5 o'clock swim, followed by breakfast and ended with a late afternoon journey home through Topanga canyon.

Fruit Rots on Trees
In North, Says Thom

everything that could possibly interest a man engaged in the development of the west, and on every hand I found an eagerness to get to Southern California, and especially to Los Angeles and to Glendale, that indicates the most wonderful migration that the west has ever seen.

On the single section that we visited can show anything even remotely to be compared with the growth of Glendale, and in several cities I found that the business men who are left are complaining that Southern California is overgrown. The fact is, instead of showing an increase in size, are actually showing a big reduction."

Will Attend Meet of Southern Secretaries

The regular monthly meeting of the Association of Southern Commercial Secretaries, that is to be held at Oxnard on Saturday, September 1, will be attended by Secretary E. F. Sanders and membership Secretary G. Clay Goodlee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Thom found that the sales force in his office had been keeping up the good work while he was away, handling a volume of business that has set a record for any similar period in the history of the firm.

The "Wind God" follows a vessel at sea and attempts to swamp it unless its appetite is satisfied with pork, fruits and candies, according to Chinese tradition.

SANITARIUM PAYS $7500 WEEKLY TO EMPLOYEES HERE

Magnitude of Institution Is Revealed by Records;
Big Income Possible

The expenditure of $7500 weekly in payment of wages to the large number of employees connected with the institution stamps the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital as one of the most important business firms in the city and, when it is considered that this amount is circulated largely through the trade channels of Glendale, the influence of the sanitarium can be readily appreciated as a factor in the development of the city.

Of this amount, $2500 is paid weekly to the nursing staff and other employees of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, and $5,000 weekly is the payroll of the men who are working on the construction of the mammoth new sanitarium plant overlooking Glendale on the east.

The records of the present institution show that the volume of business for the eleven months to June 1, 1923, totaled $261,000.

It is the assertion of officials of the board that the new sanitarium, with its greatly enlarged capacity for caring for patients, will show a gross income of $500,000 annually from the very start of its operations.

Citizens of Glendale who have become interested in the growth of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital are keenly alive to the advantages that an institution of this magnitude offers to the people of the city in which it is located.

Mary MacSwiney Gets In 'Dutch' With Irish

DUBLIN, Aug. 27.—Mary MacSwiney, one of the women leaders of the Irish republicans was chased from the platform by an angry crowd at Swinford Saturday when she made slighting mention of the late Michael Collins.

"Collins was shot in a fair fight," declared Miss MacSwiney. "He got a more honorable death than he deserved."

Collins was shot from ambush one year ago, while inspecting Free State military positions near Cork.

P. E. O. Programs For Coming Year Reveal Varied Interest Of Women In Four Chapters

THE coming club year as predicted in plans of the P. E. O. chapters in Glendale, is to be one of expansion and unusual activity. Keeping pace with the growth of the city, the P. E. O. organization, like the Tuesday Afternoon Club, has developed from a small, informal group into a live organization, standing out prominently in the state and national organizations of which it is a part.

There are 150 Glendale women enrolled in the four chapters, standing not only for cultural and social ideals and interests, but for the definite purpose of educating young women, and assisting worthy ones financially by loans.

Feature Philanthropy
In addition to this work, which is national in its scope under the direction of the state and supreme chapters, the local chapters have a philanthropic program which is planned by a reciprocity bureau and carried out by the chapters in Glendale.

This bureau is composed of eight members, two from each chapter, the president and one other member. The members of the reciprocity bureau of this year are Mrs. Letitia Lusby, president; Mrs. Cora Webster, vice-president; Mrs. Kate Parker, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Genevieve Goss, Mrs. Fanny Beach, Mrs. Lizzie Hayward, Mrs. Edith Arnold and Miss Martha Cox.

The plan for the year includes cash and clothing contributions to the Children's hospital, Orthopedic hospital, Red Cross, Salvation Army True Love Home and the Glendale Welfare council. Their needles are busy at each meeting and many garments are fashioned for the unfortunate.

Following is a resume of the activities planned by the local chapters for the coming year:

All-American Program For Chapter L

An all-American program is planned by Chapter L, the senior chapter in Glendale. The officers of this chapter for the coming year are Mrs. Genevieve Goss, president; Mrs. Letitia Lusby, vice-president; Mrs. Esther Pearce, recording secretary; Mrs. Lunett Hunt, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Read, treasurer; Mrs. Jessie Russell, chaplain; Mrs. Fern Roberts, guard; Mrs. Ann P. Bartlett, organist; Mrs. Margaret McPeak, parliamentarian. The year book committee is Mrs. Ann Bartlett, Mrs. Emma Barker and Mrs. Pearl Tower (deceased).

GREAT BARITONE WILL SING HERE

C. Whitehill Programmed
By Glendale Music Club
For First Meeting

"Music washes away from the soul the dust of every-day life," is the plain but inspirational quotation given by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club, in her announcement that Clarence Whitehill, American-born baritone, will be the artist presenting the program at the first meeting of the club year in October.

Mr. Whitehill, who has sung at home and abroad, appearing for seven seasons with the Metropolitan Opera company and six seasons with the Chicago Opera company, is coming west for a big event in Los Angeles, and preceding this he will sing before the Glendale Music club.

Great Year Ahead
Mrs. Jones has sent the following message to Glendadians, "The Glendale Music club has a great year ahead in all lines of musical achievement. The senior club numbers around 500 and six departments are now organized, the Junior Music club, Juvenile Music club, Music Teachers' round table, Artists' section, Composers' section and Scholarship Loan fund.

"Plans are under way to organize an educational department with committees for all lines such as choral work, church music, school music, orchestra, opera, music appreciation, etc.

"The Glendale Music club stands for American artists and composers, as well as for the advancement of Glendale artists and the promotion of good music in the community.

Democratic Organization
"It is a thoroughly democratic organization, all creeds and all citizens may buy season memberships, but the active membership is limited to musicians, since it is they who carry on the work and determine the policies of the organization. All the money subscribed to the club goes to pay artists and administrative expenses, hence we are able to secure many high-priced artists that other organizations are unable to handle.

"Among the Glendale artists who belong to the club and who have been presented in our concert series are Brahms, Van den Bergh, Miss Gertrude Cleophas, Mrs. Catherine Shank, Helen Graham Cole, E. A. Faggioli, Mrs. Virginia Freeman, Louis Kean, Phoebe Armstrong Marlenee, Dorothy Armstrong, Pearl Cole McMullen, Mrs. H. McMullen, Mrs. Charles Parker, Madrigal club members, Mrs. Frank Arnold, Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. L. N. Hagood, Mrs. Riffa Leighton, Mrs. Enona Hopkins, Julius Kranz, Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah, Mrs. Gertrude Chapman Erb and the Junior Music club, Miss Hazel Linkogel, Miss Elizabeth Mottern, Miss Julia Robinson, Miss Lois Welsh.

"The Artists' section of the club is limited to artist members only, and will meet each month under the direction of Miss Gertrude Cleophas.

"The Teachers' round table is to meet under the direction of Mrs. Eva Cunningham. Study of the Composers' section will be devoted to interesting material hitherto unknown in Glendale. Mrs. Lillian Ballagh is in charge of this club unit.

"Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, head of the music department in the Glendale High school, is chairman of the Student Loan fund, for which the club is to give one benefit a year to raise money to assist some worthy and talented student.

"The Junior club will take up the study of operas and the Juvenile club folk songs and dances of the nations.

"Additional members are coming in fast and Mrs. Warren Roberts, treasurer, of 617 East Elk avenue, is anxious for a record enrollment before the opening concert in October."

Glendadians who have recently secured patron memberships in the Music club are Mrs. F. S. Balthis, Mrs. L. E. Richardson, Mrs. Estelle D. Dyke, Freeman McG. Kelley, Miss Cora C. Volter, Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. Mittie T. E. Parker, Mrs. E. D. Yard, Mrs. Max Green, Frank W. Miller, Mrs. W. A. Hough.

Crusade Will Spread California's Charms

With the idea of getting away from the customary snow scenes on Christmas greeting cards and substituting therefor scenes that are typically Californian, John Dillon, secretary-treasurer of the Modesto Chamber of Commerce has been visiting Glendale on his swing around the civic organizations of the state and explaining his crusade to the officials of Chambers of Commerce.

It is the aim of those who are supporting the present campaign to sell to the people of the country the knowledge of California's wonderful climate, with its wealth of flowers and its unrivalled advantages, and one of the ways through which this is to be accomplished is to persuade the people who make their homes in California to send greeting cards showing typical California scenes, instead of the usual pictures of the old homestead with piles of snow all over it, or of Santa Claus with his sleigh and his reindeer.

"LITTLE BED-TIME STORIES"—BUT NOT VERY CONDUCTIVE TO GOOD SLEEP IN EASTERN STATES

A LIVE DEAD ONE

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 27.—"Please return this 'memory' to General Pershing and tell him I'm still very much alive," said Fernando B. Gonzales, Los Angeles, in a letter today to the State Veterans' Welfare board. The "memory" was General Pershing's tribute to Gonzales who was reported killed in action September 25, 1918.

MARY HANGS AROUND

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—Rumors that Mary Miles Minter, screen star, was Honolulu-bound, are dispelled by the statement of the actress that she is not contemplating leaving Los Angeles at this time. In fact, Miss Minter went to the office of her attorney today to help him in preparing the papers for the suit which the star will file against her mother.

PLEA FOR ELEPHANT

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 27.—Objecting to the scheduled execution of "Charlie" Los Angeles movie elephant, the Al G. Barnes-Stonehouse today wired Governor Friend W. Richardson asking that the aged animal be granted executive clemency. The circus man offered to provide a home for Charlie for the remainder of his life.

LEWIS REFUSES ARBITRATION IN SETTLING STRIKE

Operators Will Have to Get Off Perch, Ultimatum
Of Coal Miners

By GEORGE T. HOOK
For International News Service
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 27.—"Awaiting developments," John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, remained here today while other representatives of the anthracite miners who threaten to strike next Saturday were in Harrisburg, Pa., attending the conference requested by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania. The conference was called in the hope of averting the walkout.

Lewis, whose reason for not attending the Harrisburg meeting is illness, failed to show any great enthusiasm over the conference. "The operators will have to unperch themselves or there can be no settlement," he said.

Lewis indicated that the only way a strike can be averted will be for the operators to accept the miners' proposition, made at the miner-operator conference in New York on August 15. At that conference, Lewis demanded, among other things, a wage increase for the miners, the eight-hour day and the check-off.

"Any suggestion at the Harrisburg conference to arbitrate will not be entertained," added the miners' chief. Lewis reiterated that the miners had entered the Harrisburg conference "as a matter of courtesy" to Governor Pinchot, and that acceptance of the invitation did not mean the miners had conceded, or would concede, anything.

SALESMAN NABBED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Albert Apana, stock salesman, is in custody here today on a warrant for his arrest issued by Judge Lyle T. Jacks. When Apana accidentally jostled Detective Harry Lubbock at the Ferry building, the sleuth recognized Apana as a man sought in connection with a complaint of a local merchant, who alleges that Apana swindled him out of $2000 in a stock deal.

Echo of Los Feliz Tax Suits Heard by Le Blanc

An echo of the recent Los Feliz tax suits was heard this week, when Harry D. McHevitt, of 204 Maple avenue, and Napoleon Le Blanc, 607 North Olive avenue, Burbank, were served with notice of a suit in which Stoddard & Blanchard were the plaintiffs. The suit is of a similar nature to the other cases that were filed recently, and covered a house and lot at 204 Maple avenue, which Mr. LeBlanc recently sold to Mr. McHevitt, proprietor of the Maple Avenue pharmacy.

Mr. LeBlanc, through his bankers, was able to show that he had paid the assessment some time ago, and that he had the cancelled check for the payment, and he is confident that he can force the abandonment of the suit with this evidence of payment.

May Modify Japanese Proposals to China

PEKING, Aug. 27.—"Japan is not lacking in resources in handling their affairs with China, therefore Japan has not found it necessary to use the Lanching note to bring pressure to bear on China," Minister Yoshizawa declared in an exclusive interview with International News Service. "Japan sincerely wants the co-operation of the other world powers but does not wish to injure China's sovereignty. I look to see reservations made by all concerned in the railroad control question and expect instructions from my government which may include a modification of the proposal," Yoshizawa added.

Gompers' Old Adviser Held for Sanity Test

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—James Lord, labor leader, former vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, is today held by the local police for observation as to his sanity. For many years Lord was one of Samuel Gompers' chief advisers. Mrs. Lord had complained to the police declaring Lord had become so erratic lately she was afraid to live with him and yesterday a street car conductor alleged he had been attacked after refusing to accept a check for six cents fare presented by Lord.

TODAY—Miscellaneous Paris Notes.

By ALICE LANELIER
For International News Service

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Mimmi Pinson and all her sister midnights will have a holiday in winter or summer if the plans for taking over a large hotel at San Salvador can be realized. A vast property, near Hyeres, taken over from Sister Candide ten years after her trial, has, up to the present moment, been turned to little use. One corner has been converted into a children's hospital, and it is now proposed to make the remaining part a holiday hotel for the little midnights of Paris. Here they will find rooms for not more than five francs a day. In winter they can take the sun cure in this charming spot and in summer revel in sea baths in the blue Mediterranean.

One lone American is on the list of 3217 foreigners who became naturalized French citizens during this last year. Of this number there 1069 Italians, 982 Belgians, 179 Russians, 184 Spaniards, 102 Turks, sixty-six Poles and twenty-three British. The statistics just published show a remarkable increase over those of recent years and include 143 Germans, of whom 114 fought in the French army during the war.

Open-air school is a necessity in a little village of the department of Drome, which is built on the summit of a high hill and counts no more than ten houses, a few stables, fourteen voters and several hundred sheep in all. In winter, bad weather renders the roads impassable and the few children there are find it impossible to descend into the valley for school. Summer time finds them too busy tending sheep and, as a consequence, their education is neglected. Authorities, recently looking into the matter, have decided to send a schoolmistress up the hill as soon as fine weather begins in May, who will teach the little shepherds and shepherdesses while they tend their flocks.

The celebrated cook-stove of the French Blebeard, Landru, is having almost as checkered a career as its former owner. Taken to Italy soon after the execution, its present possessor was prohibited from putting the much-talked-of object upon exhibition. He transferred it to Marseilles, where it was kept in a little tent for curious onlookers. Night prowlers recently got into the tent and would have carried off the stove if the police had not surprised them in their work.

The little "bateaux-mouches," the fly-boats which ply up and down the Seine river at Paris, are not making their expenses. Repainted, entirely renovated, furnished with much more rapid machines and having just doubled their pre-war tariff, they have not been able to regain their old-time popularity. At certain hours of the day many of the graceful little boats move along with only the conductor on board.

"I was put out in the 'semi-finals,'" dictated a client of a large American banking house in Paris to a pretty French stenographer. He was writing to a friend about a recent golf competition, but evidently mademoiselle's knowledge of the game was a bit limited, for what the recipient of the letter read was: "Just pulled out my summer flannels."

Faded flowers cover the tomb of the Divine Sarah, buried just four months ago, and the family lot of the Bernhardt's has a pathetic look of abandonment. These apparent signs of forgetfulness have stirred one of the great actresses' admirers, a native of Holland, to found a foundation for a special fund in order that the tomb shall never lack fresh flowers.

Prince to Wed Lady Curzon

Prince George and his fiancée, Lady Alexandria Curzon

Britain's royal family soon may be related—by marriage—to the wealthy Leiter family of Chicago. According to latest reports, Prince George, youngest son of the British king, is to wed Lady Alexandria Curzon, whose mother was a member of the wealthy Chicago Leiter family.

BILLY WILKES

You remember yesterday Billy frightened a young lady into a faint, surprised a gentleman and knocked over a man servant. He got out of that house finally.

Once safely outside, Billy barked for Nannie to hurry and follow him, and the pair of goats ran down the hill as fast as their legs could carry them, never stopping until they reached the exposition grounds down by the live stock exhibit. Here they lay down beside the outside fence of the fair grounds to spend the night, but before Nannie went to sleep she insisted on knowing what had kept Billy so long in the house. When he told her about the gentleman thinking he was a spook until he had moved, when the man had thrown the book at him, and about upsetting the servant and the tea tray, she laughed, but when he recounted how the young lady had been frightened and had fainted, she was very sorry and wanted Billy to go back the next day and loiter around the place to try to see her through a window or perhaps as

LOVESIGHT

When do I see thee most, beloved one?
When in the light the spirit of mine eyes
Before thy face, their altar, solemnize
The worship of that love through thee made known?
Or when in the dusk hours (we two alone),
Close-kissed and eloquent of still replies
Thy twilight-hidden glimmering visage lies,
And my soul only sees thy soul its own?
O love, my love! if I no more should see
Thyself, nor on the earth the shadow of thee,
Nor image of thine eyes in any spring—
How then should sound upon life's darkening slope
The ground-whirl of the perished leaves of hope,
The mind of death's imperishable wing?
—Dante Rossetti.

talk to you any more tonight, but I am going right to sleep so I shall be well rested for sightseeing tomorrow."

The next morning they woke early, and before anyone was stirring on the grounds, Billy had butted a board off the high fence at the fair grounds and both goats had squeezed through the opening into the field sports grounds at the exposition.

And now they were ready to view the exposition in earnest, this grand exposition they had come so far to see. You will soon find out what happened to them while seeing its sights.

(Tomorrow they have more adventures.)

The coldest weather observed in the world was 90 degrees below zero.

A GOOD SINGLE CIRCUIT SET

Regardless of the disadvantages of the single circuit set a great many fans still cling to it on account of its ease in operation. For this reason a good single circuit set is shown that does not require much changing of your present single circuit set. The usual single circuit set has a variable condenser in series with the aerial inductance, has the variable condenser across the coil and by varying this condenser rather sharp tuning may be obtained. If you have a fixed primary as would be the case if you have spider web or honeycomb coils, a variable condenser can be placed in series with the aerial at point X. The capacity of this condenser will depend on your aerial. A long aerial may require a .005 condenser while a small one will need a larger one.

The second or tickler coil, also has a variable condenser shunted around it which gives us a tuned plate circuit. Quite a lot of tuning can be done by merely turning this condenser and leaving all other controls alone.

For amateur work the primary should consist of 40 turns and the tickler 25 turns. For broadcast-reception they should both be larger, the primary between 80 and 100 turns and the tickler about 50.

In receiving from any station, the more inductance (wire) you can use and the less capacity, the stronger will be your signals. Likewise, the less resistance there is in your aerial the greater will be the potential applied to the detector.

If you want to receive with maximum signal strength from amateur stations you would use a smaller coil than you would if you desired to pick up stations on 360 meters. And for best signal strength on the longer broadcasting stations around 500 meters, you should still use more wire on the coil, although you can get them with the same amount and more value of condenser. But to get maximum signal strength you should use all the inductance you can. It is for this reason I prefer your set if it is the regular single circuit regenerative type. The secondary condenser can be shunted across your aerial and ground binding posts and the tickler condenser across those binding posts.

In tuning for distant stations it must be remembered they are not found as readily as local stations whose signals in some cases are forced and can be heard over quite a wide band of wave length.

Pointers

If your set works nicely one night and is dead the next, look at your B batteries—they may have become short-circuited.

Keep B battery leads short and they are less liable to short circuit. Distance stations can be copied better in the day time on the longer wave lengths than they could on 360.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE RED BUG

Uncle Wiggily was hopping along the path through the woods one day, wondering what sort of an adventure would come to him. All of a sudden the bunny rabbit gentleman heard a gentle voice asking: "Have you any crumbs in your pocket this morning?"

Mr. Longears jumped up in the air and came down again, for, not being a balloon, he couldn't stay up.

"Don't be afraid, Uncle Wiggily," continued the gentle voice. "I am neither the Fuzzy Fox nor the Woolly Wolf. But, I would like a few crumbs if you have any in your pocket."

"Who are you?" asked the rabbit uncle, for, looking around, he saw no one.

"I am the Red Bug," was the answer, and, as truly as I am telling you, out from under a sassafras bush crawled a brilliant scarlet beetle about as large as a strawberry and much the same color.

"Oh, so you are the Red Bug, are you?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"And I'm hungry for crumbs," buzzed the Red Bug. "I have heard some of your animal friends say you sometimes carry cherry pie in your pocket," went on the Red Bug, "and I thought perhaps you might now have a few crumbs left. I couldn't eat a whole piece of cherry pie, but I should just love a few crumbs."

"I'll see if I have any," spoke Uncle Wiggily kindly. Then, putting his paw in his pocket, the rabbit gentleman found a few crumbs which he scattered on the ground for the Red Bug.

"Oh, thank you so much!" buzzed the bug. "These will keep me from starving. And, Uncle Wiggily, if ever I can do you a favor I shall be most happy."

"Pray do not mention it," replied the bunny gentleman, with a low and polite bow of his pink, twinkling nose. Then he hopped on, sort of laughing to himself. He was still laughing when he reached the little log cabin where Uncle Butter, the goat, lived.

"What are you chuckling about?" asked Uncle Butter, moving his chin whiskers up and down like an elevator in the three and four cent store.

"I was laughing to think how the Red Bug wanted to do me a favor," said Uncle Wiggily. "I don't see how he ever could."

"Nor I," beated the goat gentleman. "The idea of a little red bug, as large as a strawberry, doing a favor for a big rabbit like you! But still I dare say he meant to be kind, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Oh, yes, I dare say," agreed the bunny.

Now, if you please, just you wait and see what happens.

Uncle Wiggily had a pleasant visit with Uncle Butter, who gave him Mr. Longears some circus bilboared paste pudding, and then Uncle Wiggily hopped back to his hollow stump bungalow. He had almost reached there, and he was wondering what Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy would give him for supper,

The Fox leaned over he thought was the red strawberry and then he gave a grunt.

"What's the matter?" asked the bunny.

"The red strawberry rolled away from me, but I'll get it now!" howled the fox. He let go of Uncle Wiggily's ears and, with both paws held out, made a jump for the red thing on the ground. And then, all of a sudden, the fox cried: "Ouch! I'm pinched!"

Oh, the red strawberry bit me on the end of my nose! Ouch! Wounded!

And then the Red Bug, who had pretended to be a strawberry to fool the fox, buzzed out, saying: "Run, Uncle Wiggily! Run! I'll nip the fox on the nose again! This is my chance to do you a favor!" And the Red Bug nipped the fox again on his nose, while the bunny ran safely home to his hollow stump bungalow.

"I never thought such a little Red Bug could do me a favor, but he did," said the bunny to Nurse Jane that night. So this teaches us we never can tell what is going to happen. Ad if the parlor rug doesn't go out in the kitchen to see what the gas stove is cooking, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the funnybrella.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

THE PICNIC

They got up a picnic in our neighborhood, and made grand plans, and everybody was wild to get out in the woods and eat picnic dinner. Everybody was supposed to take a basket of food, and I guess they did, but I don't know for sure. Because I stayed at home and soaked a few sandwiches in lemonade and ginger ale. And had hard-boiled eggs and indigestible doughnuts and some salmon salad, and ate on the kitchen floor. And had a few trained red ants to run over the food. Then we went and stood under the shower bath and got soaking wet in lieu of a rainstorm. And we had the same kind of picnic as those who went to it.

STATESMANSHIP

I'd like to be a senator and peddle plenty guff. The public seems to tumble for a whole lot of that stuff.

I'd settle all of this world's ills when congress had adjourned and peddle diplomatic pills in manner unconcerned.

I'd lecture everybody from The Hindu to the Chink.

The Drugstore Tenor
TODAY'S SHORT STORY BY Ad Schuster

Wallie Crump, soda jerker at the Minden Drug store, was fat and the possessor of a thin tenor voice. As he mixed drinks he gave the thirsty world a feast of song. Save when he was shaking an egg concoction, his tenor, subdued to a six or eight-foot range, could be heard by all who sat close to the counter.

Wallie was known as the drug store tenor. Remarks intended to be humorous fell on his ears as praise. "I know I have a good voice," he said. "It isn't my fault or my doing, so why not be proud of it? Just you wait, some day I'll be making them weep and wail. What'll it be, vanilla or strawberry?"

As Wallie was neat and handsome on a genial and generous plan, he was not without admirers. He decided that many of those young women who sat patiently sucking syrups through a straw came not for the drink, but for song. When Flossie Kane slipped onto a stool and dabbled with a colorful mixture, he put unusual effort into the rendering of tender ballads and felt certain he was scoring a hit.

"The girl," said Wallie to his reflection in the mirror, "is all but weeping into her glass."

Flossie became a daily visitor. She smiled happily while Wallie, with shakers in hand, gave vigorous attention to the mixture of the drink. Then, puffing a bit, he told her by way of muffled tenor that the night has a thousand eyes or that someone was making a rose. As Flossie remarked to herself each day as she left the place, it was all too lovely and romantic!

It was not long before Flossie and Wallie were meeting outside the drug store. They went rowing and driving together and seemed so happy whenever they were seen on the street that the editor of The Minden Messenger composed a piece to the effect that "Dame Rumor is whispering it about that the little birds are saying that wedding bells will soon be ringing for a well known young tenor and one of Minden's fairest daughters."

"It means us," said Flossie, who was not slow at recognizing descriptions. "My, what a nerve some people have!"

"All the same," ventured the well known tenor, "the man has the right idea. What do you say, Flossie, shall we make the item come true?"

Minden's fairest daughter buried her head on Wallie's shoulder, and when he walked home with his head up and his heels striking hard, he sang for the night to hear something to the effect that everything was all right in the world.

"Flossie," said Wallie the next day, "I want you to be honest and not try to flatter me or anything but what was it about me that first attracted you?"

Flossie knitted her brows and pretended thought while Wallie stirred uneasily. It was his voice, of course, the songs he sang to her over the counter. She was teasing him by not answering. Wallie hummed a bit as a hint.

"You want me to be honest?" Flossie was making a ceremony of the answer.

"Absolutely."

"Then it was the funny faces you make when you chafe egg-nogs."

Tomorrow—The Sheriff and the Girl.

PICTORIAL REVIEW 1787

CHIC TEA DANCE FROCK
Even for youthful wearers. Paris stresses the combination of black and white. Here is a dainty little frock for the afternoon tea-dance, carried out in black-and-white check voile, the check being of broken pattern. The collar and submerged panel at the front of the skirt are of white Georgette crepe. Ribbon outlines the scalloped lower edge of the skirt, the collar and short sleeves. It is also used for the belt, a simple yet delightfully fluttering affair of cockade and streamers. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards of 36-inch check and 3/4 yard plain material, with 6 yards of ribbon.

FASCINATINGLY FEMININE
The circular flounce here proves that it can finish a neckline as well as the lower edge of a skirt, and to emphasize its distinctiveness expresses itself in a contrasting fabric. The dress is of printed voile, and the collar and flounce are of plain silk crepe de chine. The fulness at either side of the dress is caught with a tie-sash of narrow ribbon. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards 36-inch figured and 2 yards 36-inch plain material.

P. E. O. PROGRAMS FOR YEAR GIVEN

Four Chapters in Glendale
Are Taking Up Various Study Subjects

gram is planned for October 10, the speaker to be Miss Ida May Adams, of Los Angeles, an attorney, and a member of the executive committee of the Indian Welfare League. She is the only individual who has been asked by the government to investigate conditions of the Indians and suggest remedies for the conditions. Miss Adams, who is considered an authority by the league, will speak on "The Original Americans."

Other programs for the year will take up Women of the Revolutionary Period, American Scientists, Women of the White House, Experiences as the Wife of an Assembler, American Authors, American Poets, National Parks and American Music, with programs devoted to study of the P. E. O. Constitution and Educational Fund. A picnic supper is planned for October 20, at Brookside park, the guests being the B. I. L.'s. Mrs. Chas. H. Temple is chairman of arrangements for this affair.

Chapter CJ Plans Serial Story Program

Chapter CJ, the youngest chapter, styled the "baby," was organized April 9, 1921. The officers for 1923-1924 are Mrs. Lizzy Hayward, president; Mrs. Eva Barton, vice-president; Mrs. Vera Hinchcliff, recording secretary; Mrs. Vevia Onstott, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Isabel Kimball, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Kent, chaplain; Mrs. Sybilla Moulde, guard; Mrs. Fannie Cramton, historian.

The program committee, Miss Martha Cox, Mrs. Gladys Porter, and Mrs. Vevia Onstott, have arranged a miscellaneous program which will no doubt prove very popular. Original work evidently is encouraged as a serial story of eight chapters, each chapter to be written by a different member, is to be read during the year.

Cultivation of the talents of the various members is also encouraged as a number of readings and musical renditions are on the program.

Other programs arranged are, Along El Camino Real With Fra Junipero Serra, Women and Politics, Home Education, Artists of California, Film Industry in California, Poets of California, Makers of Modern Fiction-Men, Makers of Modern Fiction-Women. October 30 is set aside to entertain the B. I. L.'s, at the home of Mrs. E. D. Yard. Other social days are, Founders' day luncheon, January 21; Washington costume party, February 21; anniversary party, April 3; Mothers' Day party, May 1, and a stunt party, June 19.

Famous Americans, Chapter BA Topic

Chapter BA was organized on March 11, 1916, on the eleventh anniversary of the organization of Chapter L.

The officers for the coming year are Mrs. Edith Arnold, president; Mrs. Josephine Brant, vice president; Mrs. Hallie Stamps, recording secretary; Mrs. Effie Preston, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alice Ripley, treasurer; Mrs. Nellie Case, chaplain; Mrs. Florence Wintersgill, guard; Mrs. Eva Cunningham, pianist.

The year book committee: Mrs. Nellie Case, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown and Mrs. Carol Kolts, have arranged a very interesting program on Famous American Women. The names selected for consideration includes Helen Keller, Florence Barclay, Jane Addams, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, Louise M. Alcott and Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Programs on American Women Composers, Interpreters of the Drama, Our Founders and Famous P. E. O. Women complete the list.

February 15 has been selected as B. I. L. day and the topic Famous Men will be illustrated by the following famous B. I. L.'s: R. M. Brown, Charles B. Guthrie, Oliver Clark, Robert Kolts and Claude Case.

Other social features will be a children's party at the home of Mrs. Douglas Chase, December 21; Mothers' Day party at the home of Oliver Clark, May 2d, and a Jinks day with pot luck lunch as the closing program.

Chapter A H to Attend Concerts

Chapter AH, the second chapter to be organized, numbers about thirty active members. The officers for the ensuing year are Mrs. Fanny Beach, president; Miss Blanche Davenport, vice-president; Mrs. Bernardine Worley, secretary; Mrs. Nora Tuttle, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Leslie Eames, treasurer; Mrs. Edith Smith, chaplain; Mrs. Cora Webster, guard; Mrs. Alice Gray Wellman, pianist.

The program committee have planned a very interesting program, miscellaneous in character, suiting all tastes. One feature will prove very popular, no doubt, that is for the members to attend the Philharmonic concerts several times during the season.

Other programs will include a study of the relief questions in the Near-East, Interior Decoration, Garden and Flowers, Women

BURBANK

DINNER PLANNED FOR COUNCILMEN

Glendale and Burbank Dads
To Meet Wednesday for Social Evening

The city fathers of Burbank and Glendale will fraternize on Wednesday night, August 29, at the Egyptian Village cafe, 133 North Brand boulevard, Glendale, through the invitation of the "singing minstrel" of that city, Spencer Robinson.

The idea of the affair will be to break bread around the festive board and in conviviality create a closer harmony between these two august bodies.

Affairs of mutual interest to both San Fernando valley cities will be discussed. Mayor Robinson will discuss a special trip to Burbank to extend to Mayor J. C. Crawford an invitation to come "across the border" Wednesday night and meet the Glendale City Council, bringing with him the Burbank Board of Trustees.

"We have so many things in common that we ought to get together occasionally and talk them over," says Mayor Robinson in explanation of his act in calling the two ordinance-making machines together. "We want to co-operate for a Greater San Fernando valley and a Greater Los Angeles county."

Booklet Fund Grows
"As a result of the drive for funds to cover cost of the 20,000 descriptive booklets recently issued by the Chamber of Commerce and now being seen like seed upon good ground, all over the United States, only a few hundred dollars of indebtedness remain against the account, thanks to David Preston and Harry L. Klein, who have been actively campaigning for local residents for donations to this fund."

"One does not have to be a business man to be under obligation to contribute to this fund, according to Mr. Preston. "All residents profit from the advertising matter broadcasted in this manner, and especially do property owners richly benefit thereby. For this reason, voluntary subscriptions are earnestly solicited."

Mrs. H. E. Deley Dies
Mrs. Ruby G. Deley, wife of Henry E. Deley, of 532 Providence avenue, passed away while under the influence of an anesthetic, on the operating table of a local hospital, Friday morning, August 24, 1923, at the age of 23 years.

Her death came as a great shock to her husband, friends and parents, as the operation was not considered serious and she had appeared in the best of spirits earlier in the morning, greeting her neighbors cheerfully as she drove to the hospital.

The deceased is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Payne of Los Angeles. She was born in England. Her husband is an employee of the Moreland Truck Company of this city.

Funeral arrangements are not yet consummated.

MONTROSE COMMUNITY MAIL SERVICE SOUGHT

Hill Folks Want Glendale to Be Direct Connection for Outside Points

The new postoffice recently established at Montrose enjoys direct mail service with other offices in the Verdugo hills.

Local service between Tujunga, Sunland, La Crescenta and La Canada has been in operation for some time and the extension of this service to Montrose leaves but one or two links open in the chain of neighboring community service.

Perhaps the most important link to be forged next is with the Glendale office and Verdugo hills communities. At present an unsatisfactory arrangement exists whereby all mail is first carried to Los Angeles and then back again for delivery in Glendale.

The Tujunga Chamber of Commerce has taken the initiative in seeking a remedy for this condition and passed a resolution at last meeting asking the postal authorities to add Glendale to the inter-community service and eliminate the present delay in mail. J. C. Merwin has severed his connection with the Howard-Merwin Realty company and opened offices in Los Angeles at 612 Black building, Fourth and Hill streets.

C. G. Howard will maintain the office at Montrose on Verdugo road. Mr. Merwin will specialize in local property and make his home in Montrose as before.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Belanger recently drove to Big Bear lake for a few days' outing.

AIRPLANE CAMERA

From an altitude of 16,000 feet a new camera for airplanes can photograph a strip of country ten miles wide.

LA CRESCENTA

GAS COMPANY TO INSTALL SERVICE

Plans for Laying Mains on Main Streets Promise
Real Activity

Representatives of the Southern California Edison Gas company are making the rounds, getting the signatures of property owners for the installation of gas. The company will bring the mains up Honolulu, north on Los Angeles to Michigan, and all adjacent streets will be served within a certain radius. The company will further agree to pipe fifty feet from the mains to property free of charge.

The lack of gas has been a drawback here in housekeeping, and, too, in moving real estate as it should move to such a beautiful and healthy location. Now, however, realtors expect business to hum along at the same rate as it is in Glendale, which is with some speed, from all we hear.

A. C. Anderson, a Glendale subdivider, has just purchased a five acre tract situated on Pennsylvania avenue. The tract, which is subdivided into lots, will be subdivided almost at once. The property is part of the Cookson holdings, south of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones, who operate the grocery on the corner of Michigan and Los Angeles boulevards, have as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Cohen and family of Memphis, Tenn. The Cohens drove overland with their two cars, and will probably settle here as permanent residents.

Mrs. G. F. Prussing, assisted by Mrs. F. Charles, entertained at her home in honor of Mrs. Fred Bell. The guests, who brought their needlework to pass the afternoon, were Mrs. H. A. Wink, Mrs. A. H. Mehl, Mrs. Mylo, Mrs. Wellington, Mrs. Maneline, Mrs. MacLaughlin, Mrs. Florence Sharp, Mrs. Flora Turner and Miss Alaine Mehard. Refreshments were served.

Arthur M. Perry, assistant dean and business manager of the College of Music, University of Southern California, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hauber and daughter, Margaret, of Ramsdale avenue. Mr. Perry was accompanied by his mother, two daughters and little son.

At Family Reunion
C. R. Green has returned from his vacation, spent in the East, where he visited his mother, who held a family reunion on her birthday anniversary. Members of the family returned to the old home in Cleveland from various points in the United States.

School will open here on September 17, much to the delight of the youngsters, who will enjoy an extra week of vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce will visit friends in and around San Francisco, leaving here on Monday for the trip. Horace Carpenter is also in the Bay City, vacationing at the home of his son, who is an attorney in San Francisco.

Honor Texas Guests
Miss Marguerite Hauber entertained the Aeolian Music club at her home this week at a farewell party in honor of the Misses Elizabeth and Grace Morrison, who are leaving for El Paso, Tex., home. The club presented the departing members with a book of remembrances signed by all club members.

After an informal program, given by different guests, delicious refreshments were served, and the rest of the evening passed merrily in the enjoyment of games.

Club members present were the Misses Elizabeth and Grace Morrison, Henrietta Beislar, Ramona Bronson, Ruth Leary, Marion Keith, Dorothy Potter, Messrs. Robert Kelso, Arthur Crowell, Walt Young and Frank Carter.

Master John Hansen, who has been confined to bed for a few days, is recovering from his sick attack and will soon be up again.

Wednesday afternoon, closing the summer session students of Miss Marguerite Hauber presented an interesting program at the studio home of Miss Hauber. The program was as follows:

"March, 'The Big Clock,' " "Sheep in the Meadow" (Blake), Billy Tritt.
"March, 'To the Land of Nod' (Frothingham), Jean Tritt.
"Gavotte" (Bach), "The Harp Player" (Kern), Margery Wildback.
"June Morning" (Marshall Loepke), Dorothy Potter.
"Song of the Armorer" (Gaynor), "Falling Leaves" (Mana Zucca), Helen Haskins.
"Sonatina" (Dussek), Constance Angier.
"Joy Dance" (Mana Zucca), Mildred Biescar.
"Jolly Workman" (Gaynor), "Bird Song" (Rogers), Virginia Haskins.
"Dance Lightly" (Gaynor), Jean Angier.
"Morning Song," "Evening Song" (Trowbridge), Jane Ellen Anderson.
"Flower Seeds," "Let's Skate Today" (Keyes), Elizabeth Burt.
From scenes of "Alice in Wonderland," "The Stork of the Mouse," Elma Ruth Keith.
"Sicilian Dance" (Schumann), Melba Bronson.
"The Dandelion," "Three White Kittens" (Keyes), Marguerite Kingston.
"Jolly Jack Frost" (Lamont), Helen Reiger.
"Dolly's Song" (Hauber), Lucile Auger.

After the program refreshments were served out of doors and musical games enjoyed.

NEW ELEMENT

Two Danish scientists have claimed the discovery of a new chemical element which they have named "hafnium."

EAGLE ROCK

C. OF C. PROTEST ON PARKING LAW

Application of L. A. Ordinance Rouses Objection of City's Autoists

Protesting against the Los Angeles ordinance that makes head-on parking illegal in Eagle Rock, the street committee of the local Chamber of Commerce has drawn up a resolution asking that such parking be permitted on Colorado boulevard between Florissant avenue and Royal drive, and on Central avenue from 250 feet north of Colorado boulevard to Sycamore avenue.

The committee also recommends to the Los Angeles City Council that a space of about fifty feet be designated at corners within this zone, where no parking should be allowed.

The committee endorsed the movement to open Cypress avenue and asked for the repair of Colorado boulevard from Sierra Vista avenue to Vay drive, including the extremely dangerous corner around Judge Gavin W. Craig's estate at 460 West Colorado boulevard, of which many residents and visitors complain.

Commenting on the action of the street committee, Donnell C. Montgomery, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and also secretary of this committee, emphasizes the advisability of all Eagle Rock organizations working together in these matters and urges that similar resolutions be drafted by other local bodies.

Additional members will be found this fall on the faculty at Occidental College, Eagle Rock's institution of higher education, of which the entire community is justly proud.

These include Professor Osgood Hardy, an alumnus of Pomona college, holding an M. A. from Yale, who will take the place of Dr. Cleland, now on leave of absence; Miss Caroline Emerson Hodgdon, a Wellesley graduate, who will take the place of Miss Fardell, now doing post-graduate work at Columbia; Professor Charles B. Lindsay, A. B., A. M., Ohio State University, who comes to Occidental from the department of rhetoric at the University of Michigan; Raymond M. Selle, A. M., an alumnus of Occidental and former U. of C. instructor, who will assist Dr. Esterly in the zoology department; Professor S. L. Crawley, A. B., Indiana University and A. M., Columbia, who will head the psychology department; and Professor George M. Day, for eight years secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., who will take up work in the economics department.

E. R. Blue Lodge at Ventura
The local Blue Lodge, with their families and the officers of the Eagle Rock Eastern Star chapter, were guests of the Ventura Blue Lodge Saturday, August 25, where they enjoyed a delicious banquet, after which they put on the third degree work, while the visiting E. S. delegation was entertained by the Ventura Stars. M. F. Lee had charge of this end of the arrangements.

Figures show that 25 per cent of Eagle Rock summer session pupils made their grades, this year, as compared with the average for Los Angeles school of 20 per cent—a real satisfaction, after six strenuous weeks. Teachers and pupils alike deserve great credit for this fine record, local educators feel.

Brokers Licensed
"Licensed Real Estate Broker" will henceforth be the sign prominently displayed somewhere about the premises of local real estate brokers, and members of the Eagle Rock Realty board will have to adhere to the Golden Rule and a prescribed code of ethics—or surrender their memberships.

So states W. R. Johnson, president of the board and one of the most prominent local realty men.

Disabled Workers Are Saved for Industry
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 27.—Proof that disabled workmen can be successfully salvaged and returned to industry upon a self-supporting basis at only a nominal cost to the state, was claimed by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, in a statement made public here today.

Although the Rehabilitation Division of the State Board of Education has been in operation less than two years, 226 seriously disabled persons were returned to remunerative employment prior to June 30, 1923, and more than 300 other persons are now receiving systematic instruction in trades which are well adapted to their physical condition, Wood said.

The cost of re-educating disabled men so that they can again become self-supporting is less than $140 per person, according to the state educator's report.

Chancellor's Speech Rouses French Hopes

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Foreign office officials are hopeful that Chancellor Stresemann's speech in Berlin is the forerunner of a change of attitude by Germany regarding the Ruhr and reparations. It was pointed out that the German chancellor refrained from the use of such words as "occupation," "evacuation" or "passive resistance." The whole tone of the German leader's speech indicated a more conciliatory viewpoint by Germany in the future.

Newspapers, commenting upon the Stresemann speech, declared that it "contains possibilities."
